How can I connect my X-Box?

To be able to connect to our network, support from your device is required for the secured access method 802.1x or WPA2-Enterprise. The manufacturer of your device has not added the necessary support into your device. You can contact the supplier of your device for further support and to ask for a software update in order to give your device the support for 802.1x and/or WPA2-Enterprise.

This is why we officially do not offer support for this type of device with the student product.

For residential SmartEye and Studenten Internet Plus customers all this is possible as these products are built up in a technically different manner.
